

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

An Unknown Young Foreigner run over by a Panhandle Train.

NINE CARS PASS OVER HIS BODY.

He is Cut in Two about the Middle. No Blood Shed—A Paper Identifies the Unfortunate Man—Coroner Phillips holds an Inquest on the Body.

About half past four o'clock yesterday afternoon occurred an accident, which caused the instant death of an unknown young foreigner. A few minutes after four the young fellow had gone to the Wheeling pottery and applied for a job, and told some of the men there that he had been in America only a month. After leaving the pottery he started down the Ohio River trestle, following up a passenger engine, bound for the round house.

The Pan-handle yard engine, going to the depot with a train of box and gondola cars, met the passenger engine and was obliged to back in order to let the latter switch off on the track leading to the round house.

As soon as the passenger engine left the main track, the yard engine immediately backed up her string of cars. The young man met the train just north of the switch, and instantly turned and started to run along the trestle, which, at this point, is about ten feet high. Michael Lutz, who was sitting almost directly under the rear of the first car called to the man to jump or to get out on the cape of the trestle. At the same time the brakeman frantically signalled the engineer to stop. No attention was paid to the signals. The frightened foreigner continued to run, stumbled and fell face downward on the trestle.

The first wheel struck his leg and whirled him across the track, nine freight cars passing over the body. Engineer Carr, of the passenger engine, blew his whistle as a signal to the other and the freight train was finally brought to a standstill. Several men picked the body up and laid it beside the track. The patrol wagon was sent for, and pending its arrival a large crowd gathered about the body.

The cars had crushed the body just above the hips. Not a particle of blood could be seen, even the shirt not being soiled. Coroner Phillips arrived, but did not search the body, and no one recognized it. The coroner left to take a train for Moundsville, and the body was taken to Friend & Son's undertaking establishment.

Last evening Undertaker Mager, at Friend's, searched the clothing of the deceased man, and found a large number of small articles, but only five cents in money. In one pocket of his coat was found the man's steamship register, showing that his name was Adolph Langhelder, that he was nineteen years old, and sailed from Hamburg for Baltimore June 6 on the steamer Slavonia, Capt. Schmidt. He had several cards of newsmen in his pocket, and it is supposed he was a brewer by trade.

If nobody claims the body this morning it will be buried by the county. It is thought he has a trunk somewhere in the city. The only Wheeling address on his person was that of A. Wilhelm, on South Main street.

"PLAY BALL"

Wheeling's new Diamond opened yesterday—Games to Come.

Recreation Park was opened yesterday by the Jeannettes, of Jeannette, Pa., and the Red Cross Oil base ball club, of this city. The crowd was small, on account of the disappointment of Monday and Tuesday, but those who were fortunate enough to be present were well repaid for their trouble, as the game was a close and exciting one from start to finish.

The same clubs will play here on Friday and Saturday of this week, and no doubt there will be a large attendance, as the local club has demonstrated that it can play ball. Below will be found the score in full:

Earned runs—Jeannette 1; Red Cross 4. Bases stolen—Red Cross 3; Jeannette 1. Double plays—Fitzsimmons and Roe. Two base hit—Dietz. Three base hit—F. Leach. Bases on balls—off McMullen 1; off Henry 1. Struck out—by McMullen 5; by Henry 8. Batteries—Henry and Finnegan for Red Cross; McMullen and Rhoads for Jeannettes. Umpire, McGee. Scorer, F. Slicker. Time 1:30.

The Jeannette players are at the Stamm. They leave for East Liverpool this morning over the C. & P., where they play to-day, returning to this city this evening, and playing here on Friday and Saturday.

There will be no game here to-day, as the Red Cross Oil and Red Lion Specific clubs both left for Grafton on the midnight train, where they play an exhibition game for the benefit of the Jr. O. U. A. M.

CONDUCTORS AND OPERATORS

Play Base Ball Together—The Operators Beaten.

The operators and conductors of the Electric Street Railway line are having lots of spare time while the power house machinery is out of repair. Yesterday they concluded to amuse themselves and the public by playing ball, and in the afternoon repaired to the clayloam green, at the head of Fortieth street. Here was played one of the greatest games of ball known to that historic spot. Plenty of runs were made, the boys evidently thinking they needed exercise. There was no want of captains, coaches and umpires, all the members of both clubs filling all three positions.

The conductors beat the operators badly by a score of 42 to 10. The operators would have done very well had they known how to hold the bat, but when they stood in the box they seemed to imagine themselves running a box car, and handled a bat like a brake lever. They swear they will get even with the conductors, and have challenged them to a revenge game, this afternoon, at the same place. It is regretted that only four cars will be run on the loop to-day, as so few cars, they say, can by no means haul all the people who wish to attend.

The boys have the old expressions down fine. "His power's off," they cried when one man couldn't hit the ball. "Reverse yourself," when they wanted an over-confident base-runner to go back. "How many have we up?" they asked the scorer, and when he replied they said his "register wouldn't work," and accused him of "knocking down." The game this afternoon will be hotly contested.

The Zita family orchestra delighted large crowds at John Kline's "Woodbine" again last night. It will remain all week.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Matters of Minor Moment in and about the City.

The Wesley M. E. Sunday school will give a picnic at Cresap's Grove to-day.

The regular Thursday evening excursion on the Cammer R. E. Phillips have been discontinued.

The Third Presbyterian Sabbath School will picnic at Ridgeway's Grove to-day, leaving West Wheeling at 7:25 this morning.

The Griffith boy, drowned on Monday afternoon, has not been found. Down the river points have been notified to watch for the body.—Steuensville Star.

A rumor was current this morning that the Given well on Island Creek had come in big this morning, spouting oil over the top of the derrick.—Steuensville Star.

The work of driving piles preparatory to erecting the channel span of the new bridge to the Island was begun yesterday morning and will be completed in a few days.

A social and entertainment will be given this evening at Simpson's hall by the Enterprise Lodge No. 22, Good Templars. A splendid programme has been prepared.

A STORM TO THE SOUTH.

Heavy Rain at Moundsville—Fine Electrical Display.

Persons who came up from Moundsville last evening reported an unusually heavy rainstorm there. A great many residences were drenched with water and streets and roads badly washed. There was no serious damage done to the railroads, however, as both the B. & O. and Ohio River trains came in on time.

Later in the evening there was an almost incessant play of vivid lightning in the southern heavens, but no thunder was audible. From eleven o'clock to midnight the storm was central right over the city, and it looked as if there would be a terrific outburst, but it passed over, and the sky to the northward was illuminated for some time as that to the southward had been.

It is worthy of notice that the six fishes—the "pieces" sign of the zodiac—come together to-day for the first time since the February flood. It will be interesting to note if this has any result.
